

Testimonials

CFSG1 prides itself on its unique access to and knowledge of the investment community that is committed to supporting businesses new to the U.S. public markets. Our goal is to give young companies the right start and help develop a pathway to successful growth. Our clients appreciate our commitment to their success.

“When we began receiving calls from potential institutional investors, Stan Wunderlich knew which ones would benefit us and which ones would not. That’s the kind of knowledge that only someone well experienced and well connected can provide quickly and accurately. CFSG1 has given us a great running start as a public company.”

Bent Helvang, Chairman, Bark Group, Inc.

“Growing a company is an exciting ride with many surprises – especially in the automotive market. Stan and his team have guided us since we first went public in 2006 to our position today as a global firm providing design services and manufacturing accessories for the world’s leading automotive manufacturers, with operations in the U.S., Europe and the UAE. We continue to rely on CFSG1 for valuable counsel, insight and connections – and for its loyalty as well.”

Rainer Poertner, Chief of Business Development, MWW Automotive Group

“The CFSG1 team has been wonderful for us to work with. They are quick and responsive to our needs and have given us solid insight into the workings of the American markets and investors. They enjoy working with innovative companies like ours. By honing our communications and guiding our introduction to the investment community, they have provided our business with a successful and cost-effective entry to the U.S.”

Ulrik Thomsen, Director, Bloggerwave, Inc.

“We’ve had the pleasure of working with CFSG1 since our start as a one-dimensional healthcare services company with nominal revenues, through our evolution into a multi-dimensional biopharmaceutical company with multiple businesses in the U.S. and China. Stan’s connections with sophisticated investors and China-based companies were invaluable to this achievement. We know we can always turn to him and his team for critical insight and advice. Their loyalty and integrity, as well as experience and knowledge, are rare commodities.”

Robin L. Smith, CEO, NeoStem, Inc.

“As an investment banker, I’ve enjoyed working with CFSG1 for many years. Stan’s knowledge of Wall Street and his years of experience have given him a measured eye for practical investment opportunities and he has introduced me and my colleagues to a number of very promising companies that are appropriate to our interests.”

I really value the care and professionalism the CFSG1 team has brought to our communications and relations with the U.S. investment community. Whenever I come to New York, I am fully prepared for my meetings with investors. No time is wasted, no detail is overlooked. Their planning and counsel is always helpful and tailored to our needs.
